We admire this young lady's spirit in stating explicitly why she hopes for a bumper, as she does in her eard to be found elsewhere in to-day's paper. Besides, this reason for everybody's going, Miss Eloise has the great advantage of being an original performer, and uses an intonation entirely her own. Her decided manner and bright eres will tell well in Catharine, and we are really glad to see her announced for a part worthy of her talent. The bill is a good one, and all the pieces quickmoving and comic. We have hardly face enough to ac- low by case the public of having hitherto neglected this lady's sersatile powers, for we have done so also, having always intended to make especial notice of her when we saw her east to a character of sufficient scope to bring
